

NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

Abhijit MAITY has an M. Phil in English Literature (British and Commonwealth) from Vidyasagar University. He is a visiting lecturer at Mahishadal Girls' College, and is also a poet. He published The Cry of Joy in 2019.

amengvu@gmail.com

Ahmed SHABIN KK is a research scholar at BITS Pilani Hyderabad Campus. His research interests as a UGC-SRF research scholar include Censorship Studies, Resistance Narratives, Prison Narratives, Literary censorship, and Mass media censorship. He works on censorship and surveillance issues in India, with a strong focus on recent instances of literary censorship and censorship laws.

p20180440@hyderabad.bits-pilani.ac.in

Angelica Anthony THANE is a PhD candidate in Applied Linguistics at Victoria University Wellington, New Zealand. Her primary research interests include critical genre analysis, multimodality, and social media discourse; she adopts a multidimensional and multi-perspective stance to understand and account for the intrinsic link between text, context and society. Apart from social media and research, she is professionally the happiest when teaching and learning in a classroom, where she has experience working with learners of different age groups, from young learners to tertiary level students.

angelicia.anthonythane@vuw.ac.nz

Angus WHITEHEAD is Lecturer in English literature at the National Institute of Education, Singapore. His research interests include archival recovery of the immediate social and historical contexts within which William and Catherine Blake lived and worked, early nineteenth-century labouring class poetry, lyrics in current dissenting rock music, and migrant worker writings in Singapore literary studies. He has co-edited with Angelia Poon a collection of essays on Anglophone Singapore literature, Singapore Literature and Culture: Current Directions in Local and Global Contexts (Routledge, 2017). He is currently researching the comic in the works of Kelantan writer Che Husna Azhari, sexualities in contemporary millennial Singapore poetry, and homosocial metaphor, wit, and allusion in the song lyrics and other writings of Bob Dylan, Alice Cooper, Julian Cope, and Mark E. Smith.

richard.whitehead@nie.edu.sg

Anitha Devi PILLAI is Senior Lecturer at the National Institute of Education (NIE), Nanyang Technological University, where she teaches and researches on multi-disciplinary areas related to English language pedagogy (writing component), community literacy studies, academic writing, and creative writing. Dr Pillai is the recipient of three Teaching Awards: Excellence in Teaching Commendation 2018 from NIE and Teaching Merit Awards from the Singapore University of Social Sciences in 2013 and 2014. Her research on the Singapore Malayalee community was supported by a National Heritage Board (Singapore) grant and resulted in the publication of From Kerala to Singapore: Voices from the Singapore Malayalee Community (2017). She was awarded the Pravasi Express Research Excellence Award in 2017 for this study. She has also authored and edited creative and non-creative fiction books. She has also translated a historical fiction novel, Sembawang: A Novel (2020), from Tamil into English. The novel was shortlisted for the Singapore History Prize by the National University of Singapore and as Best Literary Work by the Singapore Book Publishers Association. Her poems have made their way into classrooms in Singapore, India, Australia, and the Philippines. Her short stories have appeared in various anthologies including The Best Asian Short Stories 2019,

Letter to My Son (2020) and Food Republic: A Singapore Literary Banquet (2020). Much of her work explores themes of identity, heritage, and culture. She also serves as Co-Director of the 16th International Conference on the Short Story in English and Editor for the prose (fiction) section of the new literary journal, Practice, Research and Tangential Activities (PR&TA). She is currently working on a collection of short stories focusing on food and love.
anitha.pillai@nie.edu.sg

Babitha JUSTIN is an Associate Professor in the Department of Humanities at the Indian Institute of Space Science and Technology. She works primarily in the fields of postcolonial and women's studies, travel writing and photography, and studies in indigenous tribes and cultures. Her work has appeared in publications such as International Journal of Humanities and Social Science Studies, Studies in South Asian Film and Media, and Dominance and Resistance in Text and Context: Probing Colonial and Post Colonial history of India. She is also a published poet and novelist.
babithajustin@gmail.com

Clara MOK loves reminiscing about her childhood and captures snippets of Singapore's past before they disappear. Selected for the Mentor Access Project 2016/17 by National Arts Council, her short stories are published in Unsaid anthology, Tapestry of Colours 1 and 2, QLRS and Singapore at Home - Life Across Lines.
mokjho@gmail.com

David C.E. TNEH has published in creative writing journals locally and abroad and is interested in aspects of creativity in teaching and the digital humanities. His research interests are in areas such as identity and performativity. He was formerly an Asian Graduate Fellow at the Asia Research Institute (NUS) and in 2019, an institutional fellow at New York University-Steinhardt. He is currently the Dean of the Faculty of Creative Industries, Universiti Tunku Abdul Rahman (UTAR), Malaysia.
tnehce@utar.edu.my

Debasree GHOSH was born and raised in Kolkata, India. Upon completing her bachelor's and master's degrees in English Literature at Jadavpur University, she enrolled at the National Institute of Education, Singapore. She has taught at the Anglo-Chinese Junior College (Singapore), The Creative Arts Academy (Kolkata), Lancers International School (Delhi NCR), and New Zealand Language Centres (Wellington). She is currently a doctoral candidate at the Victoria University of Wellington, New Zealand.
diya.ghosh@vuw.ac.nz

Fiona LEE is Senior Lecturer in English at Universiti Malaya, Kuala Lumpur. She has published essays in Postcolonial Text, Concentric: Literary and Cultural Studies, Southeast of Now: Directions in Contemporary and Modern Art in Asia, Inter-Asia Cultural Studies, Journal of Postcolonial Writing, and Verge: Studies in Global Asias. Before joining UM, she held academic appointments at the National University of Singapore and the University of Sydney, Australia.
fiona.lee@gmail.com

Gigy J. ALEX is an Associate Professor in the Department of Humanities at the Indian Institute of Space Science and Technology. She has an interest in science fiction, as well as in food and cultural studies. She has also translated a number of works of literature. Her publications have appeared in numerous journals and books, such as On the Alien Shore. A

Study of Jhumpa Lahiri and Bharati Mukherjee, Contemporary Discourse, and International Journal on Multicultural Literature.

gigy@iist.ac.in

Grace V. S. CHIN is Senior Lecturer in English Language Studies at Universiti Sains Malaysia. Using comparative and multidisciplinary approaches, she specialises in postcolonial Southeast Asian cultural productions and Anglophone literatures, with a focus on the intersections of race, gender and/or class in contemporary societies and diasporas. Her works have been featured in refereed journals, including Journal of Postcolonial Writing, The Journal of Commonwealth Literature, World Englishes, Journal of Southeast Asian Studies, and others. In 2021, she published an edited volume titled Translational politics in Southeast Asian literatures: Contesting race, gender, and sexuality (Routledge).

grace.chin@usm.my.

James M. FAJARITO was raised in Gloria town of Mindoro Island, the Philippines. He is a faculty member of the Communication and Languages Department of Holy Angel University. He earned his PhD in Literature from the Philippine Normal University-Manila. His research interests and writings revolve around postcolonial themes. A bilingual writer, his poems, essays, and stories have appeared in newspapers, magazines, journals and anthologies in the Philippines and abroad. His latest published short story is featured in Growing Up Filipino 3: New Stories for Young Adults (Philippine American Literary House, 2023). He resides in Angeles City with his wife and daughter.

jmfajarito@yahoo.com

Li-Ru LU is professor of English at National Sun Yat-sen University, Taiwan. Her research foci include early American literature, English and American nature writing, ecocriticism and environmental humanities. She is the author of two books, Writing the Wilderness Environment: The Discourse of Wilderness Preservation in the Texts of American Environmental Writers (2005) and Uncovering New Ground for American Nature Writing: Discourses of Natural History from John Bartram to Wilson Flagg (2014, <https://www.amazon.de/-/en/Li-Ru-Lu/dp/1612296084>). She is also the author of a chapter in a book titled Writing the Environment in Nineteenth-Century American Literature: The Ecological Awareness of Early Scribes of Nature (Lexington Books, 2015). Her essay also appears in South East Asian Ecocriticism: Theories, Practices, Prospects (Lexington Books, 2018). Many of her papers have been published by peer-reviewed journals in Taiwan, the United States, and Malaysia.

luliru@faculty.nsysu.edu.tw

Malachi Edwin VETHAMANI is a poet, writer, editor and Emeritus Professor at University of Nottingham. His poetry publications in 2022 include: 'Rambutan Kisses', 'The Seven O'clock Tree' and 'Love and Loss'. His other publications include 2 collections of poems and a collection of short stories. He has 5 edited volumes of Malaysian writings in English. He is a recipient of the Chevening Award (1993 - 1996) and a Fulbright Scholarship (2000). He is Founding Editor of the 'Men Matters Online Journal'.

malachi.vethamani@nottingham.edu.my

Maya VINAI is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Humanities and Social Sciences at BITS Pilani Hyderabad Campus. Her main research interests include Indian Ocean World Studies, postcolonial literature, South Asian fiction, Temple art forms, memory studies, Gulf diaspora in literature and petro/oil fictions, and representation of matrilineal communities in literature and cinema. She has numerous articles in journals such as Rupkatha Journal of Interdisciplinary Studies in Humanities, The European Journal of Creative Practices in Cities and Landscapes, and Asiatic: IIUM Journal of English Language and Literature.

mayavinai@hyderabad.bits-pilani.ac.in

Prerana CHAKRAVARTY hails from the state of Assam, located in the northeast of India. Assam is known for Assam tea and for its silk. Prerana was born and raised in Dibrugarh, a town surrounded by vast tea estates in the upper Assam region of the Brahmaputra Valley. Prerana is a doctoral student at the Department of English of Tezpur University, Tezpur, Assam. Her interest lies in the field of Detective Fiction Studies and Post-colonial literature.

prerana.liza@gmail.com

Regina YOONG Yui Jien holds a Ph.D in American Literature from Ohio University, USA. Her area of interest revolves around nineteenth-century minority literature. Her creative work has been published in the South Atlantic Review, The Underground, Infinite Rust, and others. Regina currently teaches creative writing and literature at Universiti Malaya.

reginayoong@um.edu.my

Riswita SARMAH is a lecturer in English at the District Institute of Education and Training (DIET), Tinsukia (Government of Assam), India. Her PhD thesis titled Dystopic Vision in Contemporary Fiction analyzed the conditions of emergence and production of dystopian fiction, through a detailed study of select dystopian texts. She developed an avid interest in literature early on in life, and also writes poetry and short stories. She has publications in a number of national and international research journals, as well as book chapters. She is currently working on a book related to experiential learning (in the light of NEP 2020), to be published by NCERT, India. Her interests include contemporary dystopian literature, English language teaching (ELT), linguistics, speculative fiction, gender studies and creative writing.

riswitasarmah@yahoo.in

Sanjay KUTTAN currently works as the Executive Director of the Singapore Maritime Institute. His first poetry anthology of poetry, “Where Fires Rage”, was published in 2009 by Straits Times Press. Previously, his poems had appeared in anthologies such as “In Our Own Words – A Generation Defining Itself” Vol 3 (2005) and Vol 8 (2009), “World Healing Book” (2004), “Singa No. 30” (2000), “Bad News Bigolo – Love Edition” (1998) and e-zines Like MAP of Austin Poetry (US) @www.austinmetro.com, The Poets Porch (US) @www.poetsporch.com, Comrade E-zine (UK/US) @www.comrade.org.uk, The Writers Hood (US) @www.writershood.com, and Pachamamapress (US) @www.pachamamapress.com. Recently, his short story “Dying Alone” was published in Balik Kampung Vol 3C (2016) by Books Actually, while “From a Simple heart” published in Letters to my Son by Marshall Cavendish (2020).

sanjkuttan@gmail.com

Shanthini PILLAI is Associate Professor at the Faculty of Social Sciences and Humanities. Her research interests are anchored primarily in cultural studies with particular reference to diaspora and transnationalism, ethnic diversity, and religious mobilities, especially in the context of global South Asian communities. She has held Research Fellowships at the University of Queensland, Australia and the Asia Research Institute, Singapore and has published widely in her area of expertise, with recent work included in Social Sciences and Missions, The International Journal of the Sociology of Language, SOJOURN and The Australian Journal of Anthropology.

spillai@ukm.edu.my

Shivani SIVAGURUNATHAN has been writing and publishing fiction and poetry for over twenty years. Her first book, Wildlife on Coal Island, was published by UPM Press in 2011 and republished by HarperCollins India in 2012. Her second book, Yalpanam, her first novel, was published by Penguin Southeast Asia in September 2021. Her short stories and poems have appeared in numerous international journals and magazines including Cha: An Asian Literary Magazine, Agenda, Construction Literary Magazine and many others. Her poetry collection, Being Born (Maya Press) and her book of fiction, What Has Happened to Harry Pillai?: Two Novellas (Clarity Publishing) came out in 2022. Her academic research focuses on creative writing pedagogy and ecological literature. She currently teaches English Literature and creative writing at the University of Nottingham Malaysia, and is working on her next novel.

Shivani.Sivagurunathan@nottingham.edu.my

Si Wei LIM is a writer and teacher in Singapore. He graduated with a Bachelor's degree in Communication Studies and has been teaching English and mathematics for the past 18 years. Now, he operates his own school teaching English to Japanese students in Singapore and in Asia-Pacific. He will be finishing his Master's degree in Education in June 2023. Besides teaching, he enjoys writing stories. His most recent work was selected in the London Independent Story Prize 2022 and will be published in the coming months. In his free time, he is involved in woodworking, gardening, doing volunteer work, learning new languages, traveling and singing in a choir.

always.to.inspire@hotmail.com

Vivimarie VANDERPOORTEN teaches at the Open University of Sri Lanka. Her first book of poems nothing prepares you won the 2007 Gratiaen Prize in Sri Lanka; She has since published two other collections of poetry, Stitch your Eyelids Shut and Borrowed Dust, both of which won national awards. Her work has also been published in India, Pakistan, Bangladesh and the UK and in translation in Nepal, Sweden and Mexico. She is also a translator from Sinhala to English and her translated poems have been published by the Commonwealth Writers Foundation. She recently translated three children's books from Sinhala to English in association with a Room to Read mentorship program. She is currently awaiting the publication of her first book of translated poems, Speechless is the River.

lady.oracle5@gmail.com